Workforce Development Boards (WDBs) are the architects and engines of workforce strategy and programming. Board members are volunteers and their duties are substantial. To support WDBs in this critical work, the US Department of Labor launched the Strategic Boards Toolkit, available at:

ion.workforcegps.org/resources/2016/06/27/11/23/Strategic_Boards_Materials

Learn from Your Peers
Access tools, training materials, and sample documents used by workforce development professionals in states and local areas across the country.

Learn about Key Workforce Strategies
See how cutting-edge WDBs are approaching sector strategies, career pathways, customer-centered design and other essential strategies.

Hear from Employers
Listen to podcast interviews with board chairs discussing why and how they became engaged in workforce development.

Improve Board Effectiveness
Access ideas and tools to help your WDB be more strategic and effective.

For additional information on Strategic Boards, please refer to the ION web site: https://ion.workforcegps.org/